

today's prayer

Psalm 126

Heavenly Father,

I come before You with a heart filled with gratitude and awe for the ways in which You have restored me. When I reflect on the times when You have intervened in my life, it feels like a dream—a beautiful and miraculous dream. My mouth is filled with laughter, and my tongue shouts for joy as I proclaim to the those around me that You have indeed done great things for me. I am overwhelmed with gladness and thanksgiving.

But, O Lord, I also recognize that there are seasons of hardship and tears. I acknowledge those times when I have sown in tears, when I have faced challenges and difficulties. Yet, I hold onto the promise of Your Word that those who sow in tears will reap with shouts of joy. I trust in Your divine timing and Your faithfulness to bring about a harvest of blessings.

In the midst of great struggle, I ask for Your restoration, O Lord. Just as streams flow in the dry wilderness of the Negeb, I pray for a refreshing and renewal in my life. Pour out Your abundance and provision upon me, restore what has been lost or broken. Let Your streams of grace and mercy flow into my heart, rejuvenating my spirits and filling me with hope.

As I continue to sow seeds of faith and obedience, I pray that You would transform my weeping into joy. Strengthen my faith, O Lord, that I may persevere through trials, knowing that You are faithful to bring about a harvest of blessings. Help me to trust in Your promises and Your perfect plan for my life.

I give thanks for Your faithfulness, O Lord, and for the ways in which You have restored me. I declare that You are the God of restoration, and I trust in Your ability to bring beauty from ashes and joy from sorrow.

In Jesus' name, I pray.

Amen.

